

Questions to Ask a Cross-Cultural Worker

Sometimes it can be difficult to know what questions to ask of a cross-cultural worker because their life experiences are so different from ours. Many times the only questions we can think of to ask are, "Is it hot in the country where you work?" or "What is the food like?" and nothing else. The following are a few suggestions of simple questions to ask workers to get them talking about their world so that you can engage in a genuine dialogue as well as learn more about what God is doing globally.

1. What do you most enjoy about your work?
2. Tell me something about the people of your country.
3. What is the economic situation of the people you work with?
4. What most encourages you in your work?
5. Are many people responsive to the gospel or just a few? Why?
6. Describe an experience you had on the field that impacted the way you do ministry.
7. Tell me about spiritual disciplines on the field. Are they difficult to maintain? How has God met your spiritual hunger?
8. What do you appreciate most about the culture you are living in?
9. Tell me about a special friendship you have with a national. Who are some of your close friends?
10. What is security in the country like?
11. How are church services different or alike in your country of service?
12. Tell me about some unique customs or cultural ways of life in your country.
13. Are there any behaviors that are acceptable in America that are not acceptable in your country?
14. What are some specific prayer requests you have for your country?
15. Tell me about raising your children in a different culture. Advantages? Disadvantages?
16. What is the greatest spiritual need you notice in your ministry? Physical need? Emotional need?
17. How did you adapt to being in a different culture?
18. What has been your most noticeable spiritual change since you began ministry as a missionary?
19. What is a typical day like for you? Your family?
20. Tell me about the roles of men and women in your country.
21. What are some of the things you miss since you left your home country?
22. Tell me of someone whose life was impacted with the gospel and the change you saw in his life. Is there someone I can be praying for?
23. Are you able to share the gospel and disciple people freely in your country of service?
24. Tell me about your co-workers. What are their roles and how are they doing? Are they encouraged?
25. What are some ministry needs and opportunities that your team has?
26. What was your biggest surprise about the country, the people and yourself?
27. If you could share one nugget with others about your time in this country, what would it be?
28. Are there some specific needs your children have that you are concerned about?
29. How is your heart?
